KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS' PICNIC WILL BE A BIG AFFAIR

Nothing Is Left Undone to Make Big K. C. Picnic on Thursday One of the Biggest Affairs in Maysville's History.

Every committee named to make preparations for the Knights of Columbus picnic which will be held at Beechwood Park Thursday has reported that their duties have been performed carefully and it is now announced that nothing remains to be done to make the picnic a picnic in every possible sense of the word. Arrangements have been made for all ages and every man, woman and child in attendance is guaranteed the time of their lives.

The program as arranged and announced includes novelty contests of various kinds to furnish mirth and merriment. There will be plenty of music, games of all sorts and a big dance in the evening.

While those attending will be mostly Maysville and Mason county people, it is understood that there will be a large number of out-of-town people who know something about the entertainments given by the Maysville Council and who will come many miles to have part in the good time assured.

Aside from the announced program there will be surprises which in themselves will be great features and which will be well worth the small price of admission charged to defray expenses.

Any surplus of funds on hands after all expenses of the picnic are paid will be placed in the building fund to help in the purchase of a new home for the Knights of Columbus.

Dr. Reynolds will make the district a splendid Senator. His records in the House of Representatives is one of which he can be proud. He is a clever, gentleman and while a resident of Mason county made many friends here who will congratulate him upon his easily won race.

WILL RETURN ALLEGED HIGHWAYMAN.

Chief of Police Harry A. Ort went to Huntington, W. Va., Tuesday morning upon receipt of information from the Huntington police department that one of the young men wanted here on a charge of grand larceny was under arrest there. If the prisoner waives extradition, he will probably be returned to Maysville this afternoon or tomorrow.

SIX MASON COWS ON STATE HONOR ROLL FOR MAY

Mason County Gains Reputation On Pure Bred Cows By Honor Roll Representation.

Forty-eight, Kentucky dairy cows owned by twenty-three dairymen in ten counties won a place for themselves on the May honor roll by producing more than three pounds of butterfat during the two days they were tested under the supervision of the Dairy Department of the College of Agriculture according to announcement made by professor J. J. Hooper, head of the department. A total of 169 cows from 38 different herds were tested. Of this number 151 were Jerseys, one a Guernsey and 17 Holsteins. Majesty's Golden Elsie, a Jersey owned by J. C. Askew, Trenton, Todd county, led the list with a record of seventy-three pounds of milk and 4.5 pounds of butterfat produced in two days. Queen Colantha Aaggie Wayne, a Holstein, owned by the Gray-von Allman Farm, LeGrange, Oldham county, was second with 134.8 pounds of milk and 4.4 pounds of butterfat, while Harmony of Allen Dale 3rd, a Jersey, owned by the Allen Dale Farm, Shelbyville, Shelby county, was third with 89.6 pounds of milk and 4.3 pounds of butterfat. Christian county had the largest number of cows on the May list, fourteen being entered. Shelby county had seven cows entered; Mason county six; Bracken, Jefferson and Todd, four each; Oldham three; and Campbell, Fayette and Boone, two each. Owners and the number of cows they had on the list were: T. A. King, Hopkinsville, three Jerseys; Somnico Farms, Hopkinsville, two Jerseys; Murrice Harrison, Hopkinsville, one Jersey; J. C. Feaghan, Brooksville, three Jerseys; Hurstbourne Farm, St. Matthews, four Jerseys; J. C. Askew, Trenton, three Jerseys; J. B. Garth, Trenton, one Jersey; Gray-Von Ahmen Farm, LeGrange, two Holsteins; W. W. Hampton and Son, Goshen, one Jersey; Alfred Eisen, California, one Holstein; George Wanner, Newport, one Holstein; O. C. Hafer, Hebron, two Jerseys, and the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station Lexington, one Jersey and one Holstein.

BUILDING CAMPAIGN WILL BE CONTINUED.

The campaign of the local Christian church for $25,000 with which to erect a Sunday school addition to their church building, will be continued throughout the week or until a sufficient sum has been raised to insure the erection. Thus far the campaign has been signally successful and it appears there will be no great trouble in completing the fund.

HOW DRUNKEN AUTO DRIVERS ARE HANDLED ELSEWHERE

Judge of Municipal Court in Cincinnati In Attempt to Breakup Drunken Sprees in Automobiles.

The way those convicted of driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor are handled in Cincinnati is shown in the following from Tuesday's Commercial-Tribune:

On a charge of operating an automobile when intoxicated, Charles Hesselbrock, 29 years old, 1320 Republic street, was sentenced to serve six months in jail and fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge W. Meredith Yeatman in Municipal Court. His right to drive an automobile was suspended for six months.

According to the police, Hesselbrock's car ran upon the sidewalk and against a building at Elder and Vine streets on Sunday. "You are fortunate that your machine did not kill somebody," Judge Yeatman said.

Leonard Henry, 506 Tafel street, was fined $100 and costs and his right to drive suspended for three months and Albert Jennig, 1729 Cleveland avenue, Norwood, was fined $50 and costs and his license suspended for two months on similar charges.

CELEBRATION OF FOURTH OF JULY TO ECLIPSE PAST

Nothing Like the Big Celebration To Be Given This Year at Beechwood Has Ever Been Attempted in Maysville in the Past.

Nothing like the Fourth of July celebration planned for this year at Beechwood Park by the Maysville Boys' Bands has ever before been attempted in Maysville. The celebration is on a larger scale than Maysville has ever dared attempt and would do justice to cities many times as large but the boys want to do their best and have spared no expense to make the thing the biggest yet.

Committees have been named for the handling of the various phases of the celebration as follows:

Prof. W. J. Caplinger and Mr. N. S. Calhoun will have charge of Tongue-Balls, Flying Birds, Cat in Sack, Wood Crickets, Tissue End Horns, Crepe Hats, the Red, White and Blue Cane, those Jazz Horns, the Callopo Whistle and the Loop Whips. So you can bring along your pocket book and amuse the children. Mr. A. L. Glascock will have charge of the ice cream to help cool off and satisfy the appetite. Mr. Frank Hendrickson will have charge of the drinks, such as Mint Cola and Orangeade, etc. Our friend Barney will try to show the children the new balloons. Our Manager J. B. Russell will see that both the Bands are there to do something that has never happened in Maysville before, that is to mass both Bands and let 80 children swell the music through the air.

At 9 o'clock the expert from Cincinnati, of the A. L. Due Fireworks Co., will fire the grand display of fireworks. You won't have to go to New York to see Niagara Falls, but come to Beechwood Park, July 4th and you will see it in all its glory.

At 10 o'clock Mr. A. L. Merz has charge of the pavilion where the pretty dance will occur. Bring along your best girl. She wants to be there.

All the Band Boys will greet you upon your arrival they will have something to sell. Help them make this day a Glorious Fourth.

Charges will be: Adults 50 cents; ticket good for afternoon and night; children, 25 cents; ticket good for afternoon and night. The gates to the park will be opened at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

The American peanut crop measures 50,000,000 bushels and is valued at $100,000,000 a year.

MYSTERY AT MAYFIELD MAY NOT BE SOLVED

Officers Are of Opinion That Is Was The Act of an Insane Man.

Mayfield, Ky., June 28.—Forty-eight hours' investigation into the slaying and cremation of eleven persons in a farmhouse near Mayfield has failed to reveal any tangible clue, authorities said last night.

With the theory that the murder of the two families was committed by Ernest Lawrence, who perished together with his family and that of Otis Drew, as the only one accepted as at all plausible, the tragedy may remain an unsolved mystery.

Even this highly conjectural theory was shaken yesterday when Dr. Hargrove, physician for the Lawrence family, declared that if Lawrence had ever suffered from pains in his head, he had not made this known to his doctor.

"I had treated him since boyhood," said the physician. "If he ever had any spells I never heard of them. I don't believe he committed the crime."

Sheriff F. M. McCain, however, clings to the theory that Lawrence became suddenly insane. Eight years ago Lawrence was struck on the back of the head the Sheriff said, and he was advised yesterday by a relative that he had been subject to spells since.

LAD IS STABBED BY ANOTHER.

Henry Tolle, 12 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tolle, of Front street, was stabbed in the left side with a pocket knife Monday evening by Robert Striblin, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Striblin. The injured boy's wound is not thought to be serious although it has caused him much pain. The trouble will be aired in Juvenile court.

MR. GRANNIS WINS HANDS DOWN.

Commonwealth's Attorney B. S. Grannis wins a re-election without opposition from either party. Monday was the last day for filing petitions in district races and no one filed for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney in this district either in the Republican or Democratic party except Mr. Grannis.

MASON FARMERS SELL CREAM AND BUY SUBSTITUTE

County Agent Makes Somewhat Surprising Discovery—Statement Is Made.

In connection with the somewhat surprising discovery made by County Agent Kirk that many Mason county farmers were selling cream and buying "oleo," the following statement was made by Dr. E. V. McCullom, of Johns Hopkins University, is of peculiar interest. Dr. McCullom was speaking before the Agricultural Committee of the Assembly of the state of New Jersey, and while explaining the relative values of butterfat and vegetable fat, declared with respect to the preparation of milk containing the substituted vegetable fat: "I regard the sale of such products as nothing less than trafficking in infant life, for it has been shown by a number of investigations that such products, whether intended by the manufacturers or not, are sold for the feeding of infants in some cases." In Ohio and Maryland the sale of "filled" milk is prohibited, and similar laws have been proposed in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New York, Washington, and New Jersey.

The sum and substance is that the vegetable oils, coconut, soy bean and cottonseed are being pushed by manufacturers as substitutes for butterfat in milk, ice cream and so-called butter.

The horrible diseases of India, China and the Malay Archipelago, such as beri-beri, etc., are directly due to the lack of vitamins carried only in milk and butterfat. Growth cannot be normal without these essential principles of nutrition.

Farmers would do well to consider that they are responsible for a large amount of the competition which forces down the price of butterfat when they buy "oleo." They should consider that they are denying their children the right to thrive as they should when they substitute a machine made food for one which nature intended every child should have.

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

STARTLING FIGURES.

According to the warden of the Kentucky penitentiary, 500,000 is a low estimate of the number of boys and girls who start each year on a career of crime in the United States. Such a condition is appalling, and the thought of a vast army of young people becoming criminals is enough to distress the mind of every thinking man and woman in the land.

And the law, or force, or threats cannot cure this condition. Education and parental care alone can reduce the number. The wayward boy or girl must be led in the right paths, and not driven. Around them must be wrapped the arms of fatherly and motherly affection. They demand a display of love, and their teaching must be so plain that they cannot mistake its meaning. More moral examples set before them and fewer threats of what may happen to them is the best remedy, according to the Kentucky warden. "The law is not going to make people virtuous," he says, "and it is not going to keep boys and girls from straying into darkened paths."

These reflections should commend themselves to all Maysville fathers and mothers, and to the teachers in all of our schools. The papers of this country are forced to carry too many stories of crimes committed by mere boys. We must protect our own community by safeguarding our boys and girls from the same pitfalls into which they are falling in other cities and towns. And there is a better way than threat of the law to convince them that the road traveled by the transgressor is a pretty throny one.

TO THE "OLD-TIMERS."

Gather round, you Maysville "Old-timers," you fellows who pride yourself on your memory, and answer a question or two. How long since you went into a store and called for a bottle of "Godfrey's Cordial," or "Dr. Radcliffe's Toothache Tincture," or "Genuine Haarlem Oil," or "LeVine's Eye Water," or "Bloom of Circassia." Quite a few years, we dare say. And yet there are many in this neighborhood to whom those names are familiar, and who recall that back several years ago, in the days of their youth, those remedies were household words.

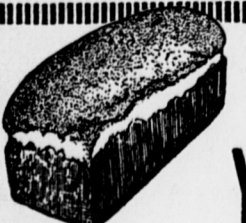

But you can't find them now. At least you don't hear people calling for them, and we doubt if there is a store in this section that could dig up more than one of the several named if there should be a call for it. Not that they are no longer considered good remedies—they are doubtless just as good as they ever were. But there is no demand for them, and there hasn't been for a good many years.

And the explanation is right here in a few words—you don't hear them called for because you don't see them advertised. As long as they were advertised they were in demand, and they sold by the thousands of bottles. Today few people know anything about them, and when they want a medicine that will answer the same purpose as the old ones they go to the store and buy something they see advertised. All of which proves conclusively that the very things the public sees advertised are the very things the public buys. You can't get away from this argument. And you can't find any better proof of the fact that advertising pays than to try to purchase something that isn't advertised.

COLUMBIA'S GEM.

Frank Tannenbaum, a former I. W. W. leader, has graduated from Columbia University with honors. He declares he is now neither an anarchist, a socialist, nor an I. W. W. Which speaks well for Columbia. In too many of our institutions of learning there is a tendency to make radicals out of perfectly sincere and patriotic young people who enter their courses. In Columbia the process appears to have been reversed. The man went in a radical, and emerged with his mind cleansed of its errors.

A Maysville woman has brought suit for divorce and for custody of her infant son whose given name is Warren Harding. This is the first time Warren Harding has gone on records in the local courts. So far as we have learned this is the first youngster in these parts to be named for the new President. Wonder how many men in Mason county are named for presidents.

KENTUCKY GIRL WRITES LETTER

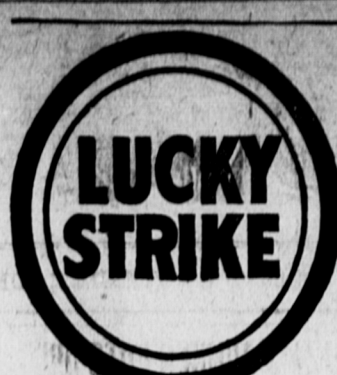

How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sunnyside, Ky. — "I suffered for more than two years with my back and nervousness, and was not able to help my mother do the housework. I took treatment from two doctors and they did not do me any good. Mother saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and I took about ten bottles. It has done me a great deal of good. I weigh 138 pounds and am in good health. I will gladly recommend Vegetable Compound to anyone who suffers with the troubles which I had, and you are welcome to publish my testimonial." — VALMER HENDRICK, Route 1, Sunnyside, Ky.

To many American girls life is often a heavy drag in consequence of illness, and every mother should heed the first manifestations, such as cramps, backaches, headaches and nervousness as Mrs. Hendrick did for her daughter, and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For over forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been relieving women of just such troubles.

LONE TREE MAY BRING MILLIONS TO OWNERS.

Tampa, Fla. — An everbearing orange tree which citrus fruit growers believe is destined to revolutionize the orange industry of the state if not of the entire country, has been discovered by horticulturists in a small grove at Avon park, near here, and to protect the specimen its purchasers have placed around it a heavy wire fence twenty feet in height and stationed guards day and night.

The tree has been in bearing continuously eight years but, until recently, its existence was unknown only to the owner and several neighbors who, according to citrus experts, did not realize its value but regarded it merely as a freak of nature. Several of South Florida's largest citrus growers have organized a syndicate, purchased the tree, leased the ground upon which it stands and already are taking steps to develop its possibilities by propagating, with the expectation of having 250,000 trees ready for setting out in groves by 1923.

The ever-bearing tree is about fifteen years old but its origin is a mystery. The tree may be worth millions to the men who had the foresight to grasp its possibilities.

Apparently authentic records show that for eight years the tree has bloomed and borne fruit continuously and that at no time during that period has it failed to have blossoms and fruit at all stages of maturity. In outward appearance the fruit is a Valencia except that it is slightly more oblong than that variety. The meat in texture and flavor is that of a perfect Valencia, the variety that brings the top price in the markets.

The ever-bearing Florida lemon has been common for many years but citrus experts here declare they never before have known of an ever-bearing orange.

New York. — Inexpensive joys still remain in life if one searches for them. The youngsters of the west side of the city are among those who have found them. Every day during the summer months they take a joy ride — for one cent per ride per passenger. Owners of several small wagons have arranged seats in them and for a penny apiece will fill the cart and haul the children around the block. These wagons will carry fifty at a time—and they are usually filled. While the horse gallops through the streets, the children wait patiently at the corner, forming a line each night until they have received their evening joy ride.

work "these days," and dear Dr. Theilberg, head physician there for 25 years rose and said: "The girls of today are splendid, wonderful. They have been through deep waters. They have been under a severe strain during the war and many have suffered losses. No group could possibly have shown more control, more loyalty, more poise. We could not have asked here for better discipline. The girls of this generation are capable, honorable people. I love them." Then she looked at the older alumnae and said, "I love them even more than I do you." And the older alumnae applauded to the echo. When she sat down, Miss Jean C. Palmer, head warden, supported Dr. Theilberg's stand. "I firmly believe in this generation," she said. "I believe they are finer than we were at their age. They are more straightforward, and logical. Therefore they are harder to satisfy and for this very reason they need the advice of wardens." Miss Balmantyne, head of the gymnasium, added to the testimony. Some one asked her if the girls of today were as strong as the girls of yesterday. "They are stronger," she said, "stronger physically and stronger morally. I fully believe. Not better, probably but stronger." It certainly was refreshing. Although, as I've said, I've suspected it all the time.

"See that picture on the outside of my paintbox," said Gertrude, the Sheridan Square art student. "That's my introduction to any other student who's trying to become famous like Rosa Bonheur. There is no special picture painted on the box. But just something that will let you fellow toilers in oils know that you also are trying for the artistic heights. We meet a good many students his way and from friendships that we would miss entirely if we didn't have a signal, at it were."

The agent who was singing the praises of the summer cottage at a nearby shore point dwelt with particular emphasis on one near a more elaborate home. He climaxed his praise with mentioning the rent—five dollars higher than the other cottages of the same size and apparent attractiveness. "That's because you get music," he explained. "Music?" said the puzzled client. "What do you mean?" "Well, you see," was the answer. "The people who own that house over there give weekly dances during the summer. They have an orchestra on the lawn. You can hear it and give dances yourself without having to pay."

TO THE CLASS OF 1921.

Washington, D. C. — President Harding's commencement day address to the postgraduates of the American University, Washington, D. C., was directed to the nation's class of 1921 as well. It is one of the finest speeches the President has yet rendered, and should therefore receive the widest publicity.

"We are at the height of the annual commencement season," said the President, "when thousands of students go out from institutions all over the land and take up the tasks for which their years of study have been preparing them. I wish I could impress the young men and women of every graduating class this year with my own conviction regarding the obligation of service that is placed upon them. They have been favored with the privilege of special equipment and preparation such as is vouchsafed to a small proportion of the people. They will not prove themselves worthy of their peculiar good fortune or of their special responsibility unless they regard it as a trust to be held for the good of the whole community."

The President admonished the nation's graduates not to believe they knew it all with the possession of their diploma. "I have often thought that if I knew as much now as I thought I did on the day I graduated, I would make the finest president this country ever had." The entire address is an appeal to student graduates to make service to humanity their chief aim in life. "The world and its experiences constitute the greater university in which all you have yet to complete, so far as is humanly possible, your education," he said. "I pray you to go out to it without too much thought of personal rewards, of individual gains; and yet, not to thrust these considerations entirely aside. Be generous, but do not dissipate your capital of knowledge and ability in aimless, useless generosity. Hold true to those ideals which you govern and its institutions represent. We Americans will best help mankind at large if we most earnestly sustain men immediately about us." Again he emphasizes this call to service by saying: "We look to this month's graduating classes to provide far more than their numerical share of leaders for the nation in a future not far ahead. You will play your parts in a world in many ways unlike any that former generations of your colleagues could have anticipated. I would feel that I had performed well the part that has providentially fallen to me if I could impress upon every one who goes out this year with a diploma the thought that it is not a certificate of right to special favor and profit in the world, but rather a commission of service. Men all about you will need the best you can give them."

Closely intertwined with this thought of service to humanity was his exhortation to the student graduates to have faith in our country and its ideals. "Much that has been esteemed elemental has been swept aside," he declared. "Almost nothing remains that we may safely think of as sacred, as secure from the attacks of the iconoclasts. It is a time in which men search their souls and assay their convictions, in which they examine the very fundamentals of institutions immemorably accepted, in which no tradition may be held immune from assaults of the skeptic and the doubter. * * * Nothing remains with us that is not queried. Therefore we need for the leadership of the coming generation an openminded willingness to recognize the claim of the doubter, the innovator, the experimenter, the would-be constructionist. But while we must give these adventurous ones their full chance, we must sedulously guard against the spirit of mere cynicism, the disposition to condemn all things as they are because they are not perfect, the tendency to tear down before any plan of reconstruction has been prepared. The trained mind—provided it is not overtrained—is the one that must provide the saving faculty of discrimination. The world must go forward, and not backward; and it will not go forward as the result of any philosophy of mere destruction. * * * Interrogation points have been written in the blood and suffering of countless millions at the end of a thousand statements of what a little time ago we deemed the very basic principles of economics, of sociology, of international relationships, of public policy and human justice. * * * Let us make our America the best place on earth in which men and women may dwell. Let us make it an example to all others, an inspiration and a model. It has been our privilege to see this country which we love called upon to redress the wrongs of the world, to restore the balance of civilization. We could not have played that part had we not first been true to ourselves, confident of our destiny, assured of our righteousness and of the power inherent in our concept of righteousness. Let us go on, holding fast to what, in the great trial, has been proven good, seeking to make it better, stronger and more unselfish. Let us place a firm reliance in our destiny and let us seek to realize that destiny through unceasing effort and unflinching devotion."

He warned students not to put too much trust in books or academic learning—that education was something never completed: "The education that can truly prepare for the demands of society in the time before us can not be given merely in academic halls. The great world outside must contribute of its practical experience, its intimate knowledge, its discipline and disappointments to complete the equipment. We can learn much from books, but if we learned only from books we would learn only the wisdom of the past. Books are tremendously useful if they be made the servants of the inquiring mind; they may be deadening and worse than useless if they become the master of the too receptive mind. He who has learned how to use books, how to find what he requires in them and then to apply it without the necessity of overloading his mind with unnecessary detail, is the one who has made his educational preparation most useful. As a mere storage warehouse for facts, beliefs, impressions, the human mind is an unsatisfactory plant. It is too liable to error and too limited in its capacity. But, on the other hand, when it is used as a mace of information, a molding, developing, forming and reforming mechanism it does its best work."

The President paid his compliments to the democracy of American educational institutions — "One of the fine things about our American educational system. There is, thank God, no caste system here. All kinds of experience, of social background, of ancestry, of tradition, of training are brought in the melting pot of the American college or university. Neither social nor intellectual snobbery is likely very long to survive such experience. That is why education, when it is of the right sort, is the greatest leveling and democratizing influence we can find. It inculcates a realization of true standards, an appreciation of the fact that differences in estate and fortune are, after all, but the superficialities of life as compared to the fundamentals of character, ambition, and determined purpose."

Mr. Harding concluded his address imploring "a dedication to common service, to human betterment, to civilization's advancement, on the part of those young people who at last must so largely direct the affairs of the country and of society in the hard but very hopeful times which lie ahead."

ROBSON ROAD BILL PASSED.

Washington, June 28. — After acrimonious debate lasting almost an hour, the House Monday passed the good roads bill which was offered by Congressman J. M. Roosion, Republican, of Kentucky, by a vote of 266 to 77.

Many Republicans attacked the measure as being extravagant in the face of promises of retrenchment, but friends of the measure held it to be the fulfillment of Republican platform pledges made in the campaign.

The bill is designed particularly to keep highways improved by federal funds in good condition.

COURT OF INQUIRY HELD.

Danville, Ky., June 28. — A court of inquiry was held at Junction City Monday morning in an effort to ascertain the cause of the disastrous fire which caused a damage loss of nearly $20,000 there Sunday night. County Judge G. W. Coulter, Commonwealth's Attorney Puryear and Sheriff Farris heard the testimony of 15 witnesses, and while they did not secure sufficient evidence to cause an arrest, it is believed the fire was of incendiary origin. The store of H. W. Reynolds, where the blaze started, caught fire just one week before, but was extinguished before gaining headway.

PROFITS INCREASE FOR CIGARETTE MANUFACTURERS

Wall Street Journal Says Leaf Companies Saved Huge Sums or Kentucky Weed Last Year.

Lower prices paid for Kentucky and Virginia types of tobacco (mostly Kentucky's) and greater demand for cigarettes have enabled cigarette manufacturers to show the largest profits in their history, despite the general business depression, a front-page article in yesterday morning's Wall Street Journal said.

Manufacturers saved approximately $107,000,000 as a result of the slump of Kentucky grades alone, the decline on tobacco grown in this state having been the greatest, the article continues. The average price paid Kentucky farmers December 1, last, was 15 cents a pound compared with 38.2 cents a year before, 26.3 cents two years before, 20 cents three years before and average price of 14.8 cents for the ten years 1910 to 1919, inclusive, the journal states.

"One of the most popular types of Cigarettes is that made of Kentucky tobacco," it says. "This kind retails at 20 cents for a package of twenty. Before the war it retailed at 10 cents. Taxes then were 3 cents on the package, against 6 cents today. In 1919 Kentucky tobacco brought 38.2 cents a pound compared with 7.3 cents in 1915, an increase of nearly 300. Other materials advanced in about the same proportion, while retail prices increased only about 100%."

"It was estimated last year that 70% of production costs went for leaf. With prices for leaf cut in half compared with those for the 1919 crop, the enormous saving to the cigarette manufacturer is obvious. Labor costs in cigarette making represent 10% of the total."

In the first four months of 1921, cigarette production on the basis of internal revenue figures amounted to 16,307,000,000. This is at the annual rate of nearly 49,000,000,000, compared with 44,651,000,000 in 1920, 44,804,000,000 in 1919 and 37,914,000,000 in 1918.

As a result of lower leaf prices, cigarette manufacturers are accumulating large quantities of cash. It is estimated that one of the big manufacturers purchased its supply of tobacco at something like $20,000,000 less than it cost in 1919. This figure exceeds the manufacturing profit of any cigarette concern last year, and is nearly 45% of the 1920 profits of the five most important manufacturers.

There appears little likelihood of a reduction in cigarette prices, for the time being at least. Growing demand makes it unnecessary to cut to get business. Also, a reduction of 50 cents a thousand, or 1 cent a package of twenty cigarettes, would probably not be passed on to the consumer, except in cases where there was competition among dealers. Leading tobacco men feel that when a cut is made, it will be 5 cents on the package of twenty cigarettes. Such a cut could not be made at the present time, for if it were, cigarettes could be produced only at a loss.

EMMART IS INELIGIBLE.

Louisville, Ky., June 28. — Jos. M. Emmart, recommended at the recent Democratic convention as the party's nominee for Mayor at the election next November, Monday was declared ineligible to make the race by the Kentucky Court of Appeals, which held that Mr. Emmart's failure to register and vote at the last election disqualified him from being a candidate before the compulsory state primary in August.

Many Maysville People Have Kidney Trouble And Do Not Know It.

Do you have backache? Are you tired and worn out? Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed? Are the kidney secretions irregular? Highly colored; contain sediment? Likely your kidneys are at fault. Weak kidneys give warning of distress.

Heed the warning; don't delay—Use a tested kidney remedy. Read this Maysville testimony. Bryan Greenlee, proprietor grocery store, 238 West Third street, says: "About two years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and I suffered a lot from backache. There was a deep seated pain across the center of my back. I was repairing machinery at that time and when doing any kind of stooping work I could hardly straighten up. My kidneys were not acting regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They fixed me up in good shape and I have never been bothered since." Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Greenlee had. JEFF ADAMS INJURED BY DIVE IN THE OHIO

Leap Into River In Paducah May Prove Fatal to Kentucky Athlete.

Paducah, Ky., June 28. — Possible fatal injuries may have been suffered by Charles "Jeff" Adams, 21, of Georgetown, star athlete of Georgetown College, early Monday evening when he dived into the Ohio River opposite Paducah. Adams suffered an injury of the spine and his body is completely paralyzed. Physicians made X-ray pictures last night but have failed to locate the trouble.

Adams and several college fraternity brothers are visiting in Paducah and last night were on a swimming party. Adams leaped off a barge. He was seen to be helpless in the water and was rescued by Raymond Bamberger. It is believed that Adams wrenched his spine in diving, as there are no indications of his having struck the bottom of the river.

After regaining consciousness last night Adams says that he was paralyzed when he struck the water.

Adams is a son of the Rev. M. B. Adams, president of Georgetown College, grandson of Mrs. A. K. Marshall, Lewisburg, and the star athlete of the institution. He played on the college football, baseball, basketball and tennis teams. At the close of the college year he was voted the most valuable athlete in college.

Slight hope is entertained for the recovery of Adams, as X-ray pictures reveal that the fourth vertebra is fractured and the traverse process displaced upwards. Physicians say that he has a fighting chance of recovery.

He agreed to return the animal to the owner and pay the costs of the court, whereupon he was released.
